

9 Vahey Drive
Brentwood, NH 03833
603-679-4655

November 2013

Dear Valued Customer,

Comstat has received multiple requests from customers for information about whether “conflict minerals” have been used in any parts supplied by Comstat. As a corporation, Comstat policy has always been to comply with all pertinent laws, ordinances and social standards affecting our industry.

Comstat has surveyed our suppliers and have verified the material origins of each product we sell. Comstat also distributes various products. We rely on our authorized manufactures to provide us with this information. We have surveyed all of our distributed product manufactures to determine their compliance and asking them to notify us of any product that they suspect may be at risk of containing “conflict minerals”. We will forward the manufacturers’ conflict mineral statements upon receipt.

If we are notified by our Suppliers that any parts we supply to: _____, we will promptly send a notification and determine whether additional corrective actions are needed to prevent future occurrences.

Sincerely,

Jeffrey Gleed,
QA Manager